

Local NJ Attorney Named to Elite List of “Super Lawyers”

(Dayton, NJ) E. Martin Davidoff, Esq., CPA, of East Brunswick, has been named to the 2013 Super Lawyers, a comprehensive national list of highly qualified, well respected attorneys.

As a tax attorney, Davidoff specializes in IRS and state tax controversy matters, frequently representing clients before tax authorities to negotiate and resolve long-standing disputes. “I am proud and humbled to have gone through the rigorous selection process to become part of this esteemed group of attorneys,” he said.

Super Lawyers provides consumers with a credible list of attorneys who have attained a high level of professional competence and peer recognition. The selection process, conducted by a highly-credentialed panel of lawyers, utilizes research and peer nominations to create a pool of candidates from 70 practice areas and all firm sizes.

Candidates are evaluated in twelve key categories including experience, special licenses and certifications, pro bono and community service work, honors and awards, verdicts and settlements, and other outstanding achievements. Each candidate’s professional standing is also checked with the local licensing authority.

Davidoff was chosen based on high rankings in many of the categories. Being dually-certified as an attorney and a certified public accountant, he possesses more than 30 years of experience in both professions. He is a nationally recognized tax expert who speaks at seminars across the country and writes a monthly IRS Representation column to educate other professionals about tax law and IRS procedures. As a steadfast advocate for the rights of small businesses, he has testified before Congress, IRS and the New Jersey State Legislature on issues impacting tax laws and small businesses. He also represented New Jersey at two White House Conferences on Small Business.

For seven consecutive years, Accounting Today ranked Davidoff in the “Top 100 Most Influential People in Accounting” because of his interaction with government agencies, specifically the IRS. He was also recognized by CPA Magazine as one of the “Top 50 IRS Representation Practitioners” and “Top 40 Tax Advisors to Know during a Recession.”

Davidoff is a past president of the American Association of Attorney-CPAs, and a member of the New Jersey State Bar Association.
